You're invited. Join a community of highly respected research and scientific leaders

Formed in 1974 to promote cooperation in basic research and to stimulate scientific thought, the Triangle Area Research Directors Council (TARDC) seeks to influence and advocate for the advancement of research, technology and science through discussions that foster cross-fertilization between the various scientific disciplines.

Based in Research Triangle Park, the organization is comprised of a broad cross section of industry, academia, and government, representing the region's cutting-edge discovery and innovation.

The members of TARDC invite you to join this auspicious group. The Council meets during a business luncheon and speaker series seven times annually every third Tuesday during the months of September – November and January- April. Speakers of the 2011-2012 series include Chancellor Randy Woodson (North Carolina State University) and Dr. Joe DeSimone (Liquidia Technologies).
